Introductory Note

This index is intended as a finding-aid for anyone seeking information on a specific area of land that is, or is thought to be, a common, green or other statutory open space. It covers records held by the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (DEFRA); The National Archives (TNA); and the House of Lords Records Office (HLRO). For the most part, these concern the actions, since the mid-C19th, of the public authorities and public agencies, and of private owners, under the legislation affecting common land. The scope of the records, then, is limited. They do, however, constitute a relatively inclusive catalogue of the administrative activities of central government for the period concerned.

Main Index

The main index [pp 3–92] is arranged alphabetically, by county. It lists the names of specific sites (commons, greens, allotments, open spaces...) and references them to the records described above. Where the status of a site is not known, the name of the location (e.g. parish or township) is given. The county order reflects that of the DEFRA 'Pink Slips' file (see overleaf). All 'DEFRA' references are to this file. The 'FCP' references are to the 'Forest and Commons Papers' of the Open Spaces Society, which are held at the House of Lords Record Office. All other references are to records held by The National Archives at Kew. Details of the relevant TNA Record Series are to be found in Appendix 1 [pp 101–08]. Full listings of some of the more important Series are included in Appendix 2 [pp 109–54]; with corresponding schedules for the DEFRA 'Pink Slips' File in Appendix 3 [pp 155–89].

General References

This section [pp 93–100] covers groups of records that may contain information on specific sites, together with one or two individual records of interest. The most important of the record-groups are (a) the files of the Royal Commission on Common Land; and (b) those of the Open Spaces Society on the registration work undertaken by its members for the 1965 Commons Registration Act. Copies of the County Surveys>Returns to the Royal Commission are to be found in both the OSS Papers at HLRO (FCP/2/605–56) and in TNA Series MAF 96 (MAF 96/197–238). From the dates, it is the OSS files that are the more comprehensive. However, they are missing the Returns for Hampshire, Herefordshire, Hertfordshire and Surrey. The gaps are filled by MAF 96. The two sets of records are therefore indexed together in a combined list [p 93]. MAF 96 also includes the files produced by the Royal Commission in its 'field visits' to various parts of the country [p 94]. These may well contain valuable information on specific sites.

Internet Access

The index was compiled from on-line sources. Initially, this would probably be the easiest way to obtain further information on particular records or record-groups. Details of the relevant Websites are provided overleaf. The 'Pink Slips' file may be downloaded from the DEFRA Website or searched on-line. The other Websites provide dedicated search facilities. Each has its own idiosyncrasies. So it is probably best to start from the Home Page.

Commons Act 2006

Schedule 2 of the Commons Act 2006 provides for the 'reregistration' of certain areas of land that were provisionally but not finally registered under the 1965 Act; and for the registration of 'missed' commons that are clearly recognised as such in law. The present index was produced with these provisions in mind. Many other records will be of interest in this context. In some cases (e.g. the Tithe and Inclosure records), these may be located without too much difficulty. The same cannot be said, however, of the many deposited plans for canals, railways, water supply, etc. held at HLRO and in local archives; of the way-leave records related to the construction of the National Grid; or of the files of the Forestry Commission. Often, records such as these are not specifically to do with the commons; but they may provide relevant information on the past or present status of specific areas of land. Other important sources include the books and maps produced for the Valuation Office Survey 1910–15 (TNA Series IR 58 and 121–35); and for the National Farm Survey 1941–3 (TNA Series MAF 32 and 73). Many of these records have already been catalogued for the larger candidate reregistration areas of Northern England. The same needs to be done for the rest of the country. The subject of 'lost commons' deserves the same attention and resources as have been devoted to 'Lost Ways'.

Website Details

DEFRA: 'Pink Slips' file

The file is available at: www.defra.gov.uk/rural/protected/commonland/protect-consent.htm#pinkslip

According to the Website:

DEFRA holds over 5000 pink slip/casework cards. The cards are...informal records about applications made to the Secretary of State for consent under the various commons enactments...[and therefore] provide some historical evidence regarding consents...[As] the information has been captured from data that is handwritten and/or quite old there may be some inaccuracies...Names may occasionally be misspelt, so it may be helpful to search for shortened forms of the name (e.g. searching for 'minch' would locate 'Minchenhampton Common' as well as 'Minchinhampton Common'). Commons may be listed as subsidiary entries under other entries, or may be shown under pre-1974 local government areas, and the alphabetical listing within a county should not be relied upon (e.g. the same common may be listed under both the old county borough of Southampton and under Hampshire).

The structure of the index mirrors that of the 'Pink Slips' file. It may be used, then, as a 'way in' (either by name or by county). The casework cards refer to files held at DEFRA's Bristol office. The files may be examined by members of the public; but notice would be needed to allow for their retrieval from store.

Access to Archives Home Page: www.a2a.org.uk

Maintained by TNA. A2A '...allows you to search and browse for information about archives in England and Wales, dating from the eighth century to the present day. These archives are cared for in local record offices and libraries, universities, museums and national and specialist institutions across England and Wales, where they are made available to the public'.

Archon Directory

Archon Home Page: www.nationalarchives.gov.uk/archon

From 1964 to 1999, the Historical Manuscripts Commission issued a hard copy publication, Record Repositories in Great Britain. The contact details of repositories were made available online in 1995 as Archives Online, since abbreviated to the ARCHON Directory. The directory has now superseded the published volumes. It provides contact details for record offices, libraries and other record collecting institutions throughout the United Kingdom and overseas.
